

CHAPTER TEN

GOD OF YOUR FATHERS

THOMAS: My salvation comes from my God, the Trinity. How am I supposed to believe you when you tell me God is three, and then tell me that God is four? You go back and forth.

DANIEL: I explained twice already that the third characteristic of God is both the Holy Spirit of Light and the Eternal Father together as Day. Expressed as three: evening, morning, and day. Expressed as four: evening, morning, Light, and Day.

THOMAS: It seems to me, that with your great emphasis on the power of reason, explanation is needed. Is there a reason that God introduced Himself as evening, morning, and day, instead of evening, morning, light, and day?

DANIEL: Yes. There are three realms: the spiritual realm, the physical or material realm, and the realm of time.¹ Each realm follows the theme of a three way progression.

THOMAS: I should be able to see the material realm.

DANIEL: For the material world you only have to consider a physical sun and earth where evening, morning, and day is a solar day.

THOMAS: It should be morning, day, evening, night.

DANIEL: For the spiritual meaning you must see that there is evening, morning, and day for the spiritual image of man—body, soul,
